BOOK REVIEW READING LIST

The following books are recommended for you to read before beginning your studies at Regent College. Reading a selection of them will help you to become familiar with the kind of material and issues that courses will raise. These books are not required reading (although a few of these are required text for some courses), but they will give you a head start on your studies.

Regent also offers new students a two to three-week course on theological terminology. Students new to the study of theology, as well as those wishing for extra preparation, are encouraged to attend. Please note: This course occurs on-campus, during our regular terms. More information will be provided during New Student Orientation.

Mature Applicants: please write a 1000-word, double-spaced book review on one of the following books (except the Bible). The review should interact with the author's ideas and not just report on them. As well, there should be no outside proofreading.
